GREEN'S HISTORICAL SERIES, Early Days In Kansas.

C. R. Green, Author and Publisher of the Series, did not land on Kansas soil, until April 12th' 1867. As he was a School teacher, interested from 1856 in Kansas affairs, he naturally drifted into social terms with the "Early Settlers", and thus got his stories largely first handed. He has in his Historical Bureau got more than 300 Old Pioneer's narratives, They are in most cases taken about him, in the Counties of Leavenworth, Douglas, Franklin, Osage, Shawnee and Lyon. Where either Mr. Green has lived these 47 years, or those whose narratives he is now offering in his several Books, have lived.

C. R. Green is a retired farmer, a member these 22 years of the Kansas State Historical Society. Age 69. Residing in a suburban home at Olathe Kan. His large Historical Reference Library, Museum and Publishing Plant, are all at his residence. As he gets means out of one book, he goes ahead and issues another. They are all octavo in size, from 100 to 250 pp. bound in marble boards, and sold at  $\frac{1}{2}$  ct per page. Humble as the books are, the  $2\frac{1}{2}$  yrs on market direct mostly from me, over 400 of the different Volumes have found their way into College and Public Libraries, Historical Societies and people in 16 States. It is not a money making enterprise, I never expect to get \$500. back that I am behind now, Uncle Sam pays me a pension, and I love the work better than being idle, so in this spirit the books are offered.
